WILD ANIMALS: Elephants - Puttur Taluk - Madapady village - Shooting of a male wild elephant on private land - Retention of tusks - Petition from Thammappa Gowda - orders requested.

On the night of 13-4-1947 a male wild elephant entered the areca garden of one Thammappa Gowda, son of Gollyadi Krishnappa Gowda, in Madapady village, Puttur Taluk, and damaged some of the areca trees.
On hearing the voice Thammappa Gowda went to the scene and shot down the animal. The next morning he found that the elephant lay dead in his wargland at a distance of about one chain from his areca garden.
He immediately notified this to the village pottail and the Forest Subordinates. He thus got the carcass of the animal buried at his own expense after removing two tusks. The Range Officer, Puttur, held an enquiry in the matter and found that the elephant was actually shot and killed on the wargland of Thammappa Gowda. He, however, took charge of the two tusks and sent them over to the District Forest Office, Mangalore.

2. Thammappa Gowda has now submitted a petition to me requesting that, as he had incurred a loss of about Rs.100/- on account of destruction of some of his areca trees and also spent about Rs.50/- for the burrial of the carcass of the animal, the two tusks of the animal may be ordered to be given to him.

3. The Dt. Forest Officer, S.Kanara, reports that the two tusks weighing about 205 tolas have been brought to account and kept in his office. He also considers that this is a fit case for the grant of the two tusks and the petitioner Thammappa Gowda, for the damage sustained by him on the analogy of the orders issued in G.O.
No. MS 90, Development Department dated 5-1-1939.

4. The shooting of the elephant by the petitioner Thammappa Gowda in his areca garden was a lawful act under Section 6 of the Madras Wild Elephants Preservation Act 1873. He has sustained some loss on account of the damage done to his areca trees by the animal and also spent money for the burrial of its carcass. It is obvious that he should have the tusks. I request, therefore, that orders of Government may be obtained for the grant of the two tusks to the petitioner.
